

Aquin Components launches LawCard[®] for German Investment Act 2008

First product to cover revision of German Investment Act 2008

October 31, 2007 – Aquin Components, a software solutions provider to the international asset management and fund industry, today announced the launch of “DE-InvG 2008”, the latest addition to its successful Aquin LawCard[®] series. The new LawCard[®] covers the amendment of the German Investment Act 2008 including the Eligible Assets Directive ensuring that clients are in full compliance with the latest legal changes.

“DE-InvG 2008” will be launched on 15 November 2007 at the Aquin LawCard[®] Forum in Frankfurt. Thus, Aquin will be the first provider to cover the regulatory changes resulting from the revised Investment Act as well as the opportunities and challenges related to the Eligible Assets Directive. The amended law will become effective end of 2007 or in early 2008.

LawCards[®] are predefined MIG21 rulesets to control income and investment limits for various legal jurisdictions. A team of experts is constantly updating and revising these rulesets ensuring that changes in law or market practice are incorporated immediately. LawCard[®] users also have access to Aquin’s LawCard[®] Portal, which includes rule syntax as well as law texts and their interpretations. Thus, investment organisations can rapidly enter new markets. In addition, Aquin regularly offers market participants the opportunity to share their experiences at roundtables for investment compliance officers.
